Subject: Icing on the cake

Having been quite busy in the *media bringing the Meier case to the public, and missing no opportunity to roundly thrash the failed attempts by the incompetent "professional skeptics" to duplicate even one of Meier's photos and one of his films, I thought that this would be a good opportunity to ice the cake regarding Meier's abundant, specific, prophetically accurate scientific and world event-related information.

The very idea of prophetically accurate information so disturbs the skeptics that they go to incredible, and illogical, lengths to attempt to discredit it.

Since the skeptics were so proud as to trot out Ike's attempted debunking of Meier's prophetic information re Jupiter, which ultimately rested on Ike's despicable, completely unfounded and unsubstantiated insinuations regarding virtually any and everyone who played a part in the lengthy and expensive investigation (a trick learned from Randi, one might guess), and the bizarre and impossibly convoluted proposition that Meier was somehow retroactively inserting information at dates long after its "official" discovery (with the alleged and unsubstantiated fraudulent complicity of Wendelle Stevens), I offer the following information, from Hans-Georg Lanzendorfer in Switzerland:

"Contrary to opposing voices, a falsification of the statements and prophecies through retrospective insertion in the contact reports by Billy Eduard Albert Meier is highly improbable and quite impossible. On one hand, namely, the official contact dialogues with the extraterrestrials are most exactly numbered in their order (since 1975) and are read by the core group members, and on the other hand, the contact conversations stand always again in relation to each other in some form. Through the numbering it is therefore also not possible for Billy to retrospectively insert some sort of fictional contact reports.

A possible retrospective manipulation of the contact reports, through the extent of the several thousand pages of contact conversations in question, would require such an unimaginable and proportionally great and extensive expenditure, with necessary adjustment, alterations, additions and adaptations, that Billy would not be able to manage it. Beyond this, through such manipulations he could not be believed by the core group members and the readers of his writings and books because this would be recognized through the publications. Were it the case that these predictions were a malign fabrication then Billy would have to have a super memory and contain many thousands of pages in his head.

Made more difficult yet is that Billy, in the year 1984 did not in any form or way have a computer at his disposal, because the PC plainly and simply entered his office for the first time in the year 2002. Billy had, however, up to the year 2002 diligently written the contact reports with a mechanical type writer and, despite the urgings of the group members, had long avoided using a computer. A falsification of the contact reports and the prophecies would also mean that he would have had to have prepared countless typed pages with gaps in the text to make the retrospective inclusions possible. In the case of a falsification he also would not have knowledge of which coming event to insert in which contact report, so it would not be possible for him to determine the free place for the insertion. Quite aside from this, it is generally known that by inserting (something) the text can be disrupted over several pages away. Falsifications or retrospective inclusions would therefore mean that, in the meanwhile, he must have had to have repeatedly, with his typewriter, copied uncountable, already available pages.

Viewing the facts that, next to the 360 spirit teaching study periodicals, the many information and action-texts, the contact reports, as well as the bulletin and WZ articles, he has, in the meanwhile, written or published, 3 novels, 1 story book, and over 35 books, it can be concluded that the necessary time for the named manipulations and falsifications on the contact reports could barely be found. Further, must also be born in mind that a possible falsification or retrospective insertion would require the withdrawing of the already available and distributed (to the group members) contact reports after they had been sent out which would not be possible and also is not possible without critical voices from inside the group. As a matter of fact, however, quite aside from the correction work on the texts that is clearly declared, no manipulatable copies in various versions of the contact reports exist. The original contact reports of his first copies are still always available and can also be looked at by the group members."

For anyone both reasonable and deep thinking enough to appreciate the foresight of such a mechanism having been built into the case at least 30 years ago, the impossibility of a hoax is quite apparent. For others, such as the cultic skeptics, who quickly succumb to manufacturing impossible conspiracies (requiring ruthless and phony libelous claims) rather than relying on logic and reason, it should present a delightful and confounding little puzzle...or simply more food for unfounded conspiratorial speculation.
